
CV Rainer Beaujean

CFO ProSiebenSat.1 Media SE, as of July 1, 2019

Rainer Beaujean, born 1968, will become Chief Financial Officer of ProSiebenSat.1 Media SE as of July 1, 2019. The manager looks back on 18 years of experience as CFO of listed companies and is considered to be extremely analytical and implementation-oriented. In his successful career, Beaujean has proven on several occasions that he can quickly build know-how in new industries, and is distinguished by his deep understanding of data and business models. He knows how to develop companies through both value-adding M&A transactions and strong organic growth, while building efficient structures and processes. His affinity for IT and digitization was particularly shaped during his more than ten years with Deutsche Telekom / T-Online.

Beaujean comes from the listed packaging manufacturer Gerresheimer AG to ProSiebenSat.1, where he has been Chief Financial Officer since 2012. Over seven years, he was responsible for important transforming M&A transactions like Sensile Medical and Centor and was also Speaker of the Board of Management of the packaging specialist for seven months in 2018.

Previously, Beaujean was Managing Director and CFO of the Elster Group, the world's largest manufacturer of measurement and control technology, and CFO of crane manufacturer Demag Cranes. During this time, he led Demag Cranes from the SDax to the MDax and was responsible for refinancing the company.

As CEO, Beaujean led the Internet provider T-Online from 2004 until its merger with Deutsche Telekom in 2006. Previously, in his function as CFO, he had already headed the company's finance department since 2000. In particular, Beaujean pushed ahead with the internationalization of T-Online, which at the time was the largest TecDax stock with a market capitalization of around EUR 10 billion.

Beaujean began his career in 1995 at Deutsche Telekom, where he held positions such as head of board member support for finance and controlling as well as head of controlling for all international subsidiaries. He studied at Saarland University and graduated with a degree in business administration (Diplom-Kaufmann).
